Reporting COVID-19	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> Any query or case to report or death associated with COVID-19 needs to go through PHW – the phone number is 0300 003 0032. This includes if residents are confirmed or symptomatic. Once reported, there are then monitoring processes that need to be put into place and adhered to. The UK Government has produced guidelines relating to residential care settings and cleaning. You should notify CIW of confirmed and suspected cases of COVID-19. This includes people using the service, staff and the family of staff. Please visit the CIW FAQ page to find out how to make this notification. 	https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/covid-19-residential-care-supported-living-and-home-care-guidance https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/covid-19-decontamination-in-non-healthcare-settings https://careinspectorate.wales/coronavirus-covid-19-frequently-asked-questions-fags

Information on Shielding Letters	All those identified as being at a very high risk of severe illness from coronavirus (due to a serious underlying health issue) will receive a letter from the Chief Medical Officer for Wales by no later than the end of this week (3 April). It will be important for social care providers to cross-reference the list with health care colleagues to ensure its accuracy. The letter advises people to stay at home for 12 weeks and contains a range of further information and advice, including how those who have no-one else who can support them can get medication and other essential items such as food. In addition, the Welsh Government has published information on its website on support for extremely vulnerable people. Within this information are further links to guidance on shielding and protecting people defined on medical grounds as extremely vulnerable. To ensure all high-risk patients are contacted, GPs are being provided with a list of those who've been sent letters to check against their known patients. They will contact any additional high-risk patients not identified to provide the advice outlined by the Chief Medical Officer. Those who are waiting for letters should not contact their GP surgery before the end of this week. There is a broader group of vulnerable people who have not been written to but have been previously been advised through published guidance to rigorously follow the social distancing advice in order to help reduce the risk of catching coronavirus. People in Wales are not being asked to register as vulnerable but if you are aware of vulnerable adults who require support, then in the first instance, that support should be sought from family, friends and neighbours, as well as the use of other online services. If this is not possible, then the public sector, business, charities, and the general public are gearing up to help. If a person is receiving support from health and social care organisations, then that care will be continue to be provided through the local authority or health care system.	https://gov.wales/get-coronavirus-support-extremely-vulnerable-person
